Classifieds – Goods/Services for Sale

These pages within the VetNI web site are both provided as a service to the veterinary profession within the North of Ireland.

With regard to the Situations Vacant page, the objective is to make it easier to recruit and also to make it easier to find work locally. You might only want a part-time or temporary assistant, nurse, or support team member and for such a post the usual advertising channels look prohibitively expensive. A high proportion of Northern Ireland vacancies are filled by Northern Ireland folk so this gives you a place to look for/advertise vacancies without having to trawl through every GB vacancy too. Job sharing is becoming much more common and VetNI is well placed, with its website devoted to local veterinary issues, to help all parties.

- The above fees will cover the cost of time spent putting the information on the website and e-mailing the link to the Classifieds page once a month to all practices for which we have a current e-mail address.
- Situations Vacant adverts will remain on the website for 6 months or until you notify us that the post has been filled. After 6 months, adverts can be removed unless the advertiser specifically asks us to leave it on the web-page, in which case it can remain for no extra charge. Once an advert has been removed, there will be a charge for up-loading it again even if the text remains the same as in the original advert.
- The Secretary General reserves the right to edit the content of an advert in consultation with those involved, and to refuse adverts of an unsuitable nature or not submitted from within the NI veterinary “family”.
- The website is purely to help potential employers/employees and vendors/purchasers to communicate with each other and VetNI will not enter into communications between interested parties, nor act as agent for them.
